Relevant Experience:

Mike joined the firm in 1980 after having spent four years with the Boston office of Price Waterhouse and Co. During that time, Mike gained the status of a certified public accountant and concentrated his efforts in the areas of personal and corporate taxation.

Since his return to Rochester, Mike has been actively engaged in the representation of corporate and individual clients for both business and tax related matters. He has advised and counseled many clients through the process of buying or selling a business. Mike has worked closely with family owned businesses and is well schooled in the unique problems associated with such organizations. He has worked with many small to medium size businesses assisting in resolution of disputes and the transfer of the family business from one generation to the next.

He also has extensive experience in representing physicians and physician groups with respect to practice formation, mergers and contractual relationships among shareholders and partners, as well as contractual matters with outside vendors and payors. With assistance of other attorneys in the Firm, he has advised his medical clients in regards to complicated state and federal law compliance issues, including the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act of 1996 ("HIPAA"), the Anti-Kickback Laws, the Self-Referral Laws ("Stark"), and the New York Education Law's prohibitions against the corporate practice of medicine and fee splitting.

In addition to the corporate and health care practice, Mike has extensive experience in estate planning and administration, and related Elder Law areas such as planning for nursing home costs, Medicaid eligibility and the transfer of assets in efficient and orderly manner from one generation to the next. Mike has worked with hundreds of families, individuals, accountants and financial planners to provide carefully crafted personal solutions to meet their wealth transfer, preservation and distribution needs and desires.
